There is we in the ranks of the chappies. Petitical Lane is filled with disconsolate faces these days and the knights of fashion are not to be consoler. And it must be acknowledged that it was a hard blow. It was adding insult to injury, they think, for was it not had enough to lose the only Jay Waldere and the periparetic Jay Ebinore in the same week, and then to think that Jay Lumpkin, the only Tony, the boy after whom all the others flock, the standard fashion plate of the city, to his bed with the measles! The measles, of all things. It would have been forgiven had it been the gout, or la grippe, or some allment that was in good taste, but too be taken down with that infantile disease is too much. Tony will have much to an-

The sensation was not hearly what it said have been had it occurred some time ago, there have been so many of them of late that e fashlomable world is constantly startled with we things, and the unexpected is just now the le rather than the exception. The cost in quentile is what is called a single breasted Chester light color, with that peculiar and very late feet which is given by running the padding of every broad and full shoulders some way down a sleeve. Merrill's supply of fancy vests still nitinues to startle chappydom.

"By Jove, me boy, who is that deuced fine looking man and woman," exclaimed a member of the longuet Club the other afternoon as he stood on the corner exchanging views in regard to the latest ellar with a fellow member. What corner? Why, here is only one corner. That is the one at leventh and Walnut streets, right in the midst of the Lane.

"Give it up, I'm sush," returned the fellow member. The objects of the conversation were well worthy of the notice they attracted. And expectably was this true of the woman. Of more than medium height, large, soft brown eyes beamed forth from a beautiful face, and the small head was crowned with a mass of beautiful brown thir. And then her getup. It was something stuming. It was absolutely the finest street contume that his been seen in the city this winter. E4 Biersmith is an Eik. Everyone knows that, if there are any who are ignorant of the fact, it will be readily apparent if just one little glimpse is obtained of a vest which he received the other day, and of which he is very proud, it has a dark brown background, and woven into the cloth with red threads are innumerable heads of the noble cli. vest is a beauty and is attracting much atten-

There is no getting away from the fact that there are a lot of fine dreesers among the men of the city, men whom you would pass by without particularly neticine, yet feel that there was something about them that is out of the common. That is the secret of true dressing. It is not the man who attracts the most attention, the man who wears the most striking garments, who is the best dressed. It is the man who dresses so perfectly that he is noticed only in the feeling that he is perfectly prosmed. Two splendid specimens of this are Charley and the control of the control o

The king of the dudes has been termed "Little Johnnle." much to his discomfiture, for if there is any one thing that J. John Roddy is sensitive about other than his clothes it is his size. His stature is liable to lead one to error. Although his inches are few, he is one of the best put up mrn in the city, and when stripped he looks like a miniature edition of what Sullivan was in his best days. His muscular development is fine, and these who ought to know say that he is very clever with the glaves. He cames of a fighting stock and inherits the pugnacious temperament. The first three men who fell in the recent war parted their hair in the middle.

There is a new dude in town. That is to say, he is comparatively new. He comes from the Pacific coast and by the virtue of his good fellowhip was taken into the fold of the Recount Club immediately. His name is J. S. Hannsford, and he is as good as they make them, all of the beys will swear to that. He is a man who is cosmopolitan in taste and in ideas, and he bears the enviable distinction of having the most up-to-date frock coat of any of them. Mr. Hannaford is the manager of Mrs. McLean's restaurants on Delaware street and in the New York Life building, and the metropolitan ideas which he has infused into these establishments show that he is a man of ability in other things than in the matter of a correct other things than in the matter of a correct

There is a very formidable race on hand between Tony and Harry as to which of the two has the best inverness coat. It is a matter of great weight and will not be decided without a struggle and mature deliberation. Tony's cape is lined with a nort of a sky blue stilk a peculiar color that is a simest impossible of clarisfication and very effective. Its owner is very proof of it and loves no opportunity of displaying its beauties. Harry's is exactly the same cityle of cut and coat with the exception that the lining is of some peculiar material that seems to be a cross between swamslown and wool. The secret Harry keeps closely locked up in his breast. It's a beaut, however, and it is the envy of all the chappies who have seen it.

This same Harry—Harry McCrary—got off a good one at the expense of a friend the other night, which is worthy of narration. They had been discussing shirts and their proper make, and Harry contended that he could have as good shirts made in Kannas City as could be obtained in New York city. Harry got the less of the argument, and the friend, in a very disgusted tone, said.

"You seem to be mightly proud of your shirts."
"I am," came the quick retest.
"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll just bet you a bottle of wine that you are afraid to go into the Grand (next door) and take off your coat in the presence of the crowd."
"Done," cried the Kansas City man, and the whole crowd adjourned to the theater. They purchased tickets way down in the hald row, and marched down in a long procession. Harry had on a covert coat. He allowed his companions to divest thouselves of their top coats before he made a move and when he did he peeled off his under coat, and in a perfectly unconstitute manner folded it up and laid it across the back of the seat. A white shirt was exposed to view, and the explosion of heighter of the guidence seemingly called Harry to his sense. He was not feazed, however, for he arrow, replaced the garments which he had just when these and sat down amid cheers. Several bottles were opened afterwards.

Some of these days the dressers of the city will come to their senses and when they wear a frock coat they will also wear a silk hat. Nothing else its permissible, although a soft hat is often seen wern with the flowing garmest. And some of the ultra fashionable who wear the Tuxedo should re-member that the black derby is the proper hat for this.

winter. There are several shapes that are proper, but they all have the buildog toe in some of its variations. The style is lare. There are a few buttons worn, but they are not popular. Bluchers are somewhat sought after, but it is not thought that they will ever rain any general degree of popularity. A large number of enamels are also being worn, these to the almost entire exclusion of the patent leather. A dark tan also has some followers. This is all for street wear. In the exeminers the patent leather is the only thing which the good dressers wear, and with full dress the congress it the style, although this is often violated for the lace.

WOMEN'S CLUBS. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

The Western Sorosis of Topeka has exceptional advantages in its study of Italy. Mrs. L. H. Crandell, one of the members, has spent much time abroad. She entertained the club last Wednesday with an illustrated talk on Florentine art. The walls of the rooms of her home were covered with examples of the work of Florentine artists and these were charmingly explained. Misses Birdena and Almee Crandell served tea and sandwiches to the guests after the Florentine fashion, from a daintily appointed table.

The Unity Club of Topeka gave a unique and interesting Dickens evening last Friday. Living pictures were given, in which members dressed to represent well known characters took part. There were Alfred Jingle, Sairy Gamp, Sam Weller, Mr. Micawber, Little Nell and many others. Those who took part were: Mrs. F. H. Parkhurst, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, Mr. A. R. Lingafelt, Mr. William Wadsworth, Mr. A. W. Dana, Miss Fenella Dana, Miss Mary Barkley, Mr. Robert Pierce, Miss Fulcher, Mr. Wyman, Mr. Frank Barkley, Mr. Horace Wilkle and Miss Hazel Nellis.

The Cosmos Club of Topeka is studying Spanish history. As a diversion Mrs. H. D. Davis, who was the club's last hostess, arranged a musical, which proved very delightful. Mrs. J. P. Rogers, Mrs. H. L. Larsh, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Manning, Miss Simpson and Miss Felt furnished the programme. Refreshments were served.

Topeka has for several years boasted of a flourishing Ralston Health Club. Rev. A. M. Reynolds, of Westminster church, addressed the club last Tuesday afternoon on "How Disease Comes."

Mrs. Grace Potter Johnson, president of the Rortnightly Club of Ottawa, Kas., sent a donation of twelve books to the traveling library committee at Topeka last week.

Miss Helen Perry, '%, Kansas university, sent a traveling library to the Kansas library committee from her home, Clare-mont ranch, Englewood, Kas.

The Topeka Raiston Club gave a travel-ing library to the federation. It has been sent to Walton to be kept in a reading room maintained by the W. C. T. U. The In Tempora Club of Topeka added twelve books to the library this week. Of the 3,000 books pledged by the federa-tion about half have already been sent. The Women's Club of Hutchinson founded a public library of over 1.00 volumes. The fund for purchasing new books was greatly augmented by the receipts from a benefit dancing party given at Thanksgiving time. The social features of the entertalnment riven by the City Federation of Burlington last week were of the most delightful type. Mrs. E. J. Crego, president of the City Federation, gave a luncheon, and the Mozart Club gave an evening reception at the home of Mrs. Frank Hoffman, Mrs. Noble Prentis, of this city, and Mrs. S. R. Peters, of Newton, were the guests of honor.

The Noble Prentis library, which is to be donated to the Kansas Federation libraries by Mr. and Mrs. Noble Prentis, is about ready to be shipped. It contains fifty very excellent books.

The Bancroft Club promises a traveling library to the Missouri Federation by the first week in February.

The South Side Literary Club met with Mrs. George last Tuesday, Mrs. Stophlet led the history lesson, Mrs. Siade read a paper on the life of Queen Anne and Mrs. Churchman told of the war with France. December 27 the club will meet with Miss Gillespie. 300 Brooklyn avenue, Mrs. Welch will lead the history lesson. A business meeting will follow.

The Melrose Fortnightly Club has adopted the American Beauty rose for its flower. The motto is from Sophocles: "Time, even time, in all the vast expanse of this our human life finds plenteous wisdom for the souls that seek." The officers are: Mrs. George L. Walls, president; Mrs. W. C. Scarritt, vice president; Mrs. Andrew A. Lyon, secretary; Mrs. Charles A. Dunham, treasurer, and Mrs. George P. Gross, historian.

An excellent course of study in American literature is outlined for the year's work. The ciub meets twice a month at the homes of members—holding two consecutive sessions with the same hostess. Mrs. Timothy Cookson Bradley is the hostess for December. For the afternoon of the 26th quotations will be from George Bancroft, Mrs. C. R. Hunt will read a paper on John G. Palfrey. Current events will be given and items about current literature reviewed.

Active members of the Melrose Fortnightly are Mrs. Vincent R. Andrus, Mrs. Florence Bates, Mrs. T. C. Bradley, Mrs. Edgar W. Clark, Mrs. W. H. Collins, Mrs. Charles A. Dunham, Mrs. Eugene P. Dresser, Miss Enna Davis, Mrs. George P. Gross, Mrs. W. Harnsberger, Mrs. James F. Handy, Mrs. Richard S. Jones, Mrs. A. R. Lyon, Mrs. C. M. Lewis, Miss Minnie Miller, Mrs. James S. North, Mrs. Henry S. Owen, Mrs. W. C. Scarritt, Mrs. W. H. Wallace, Mrs. George L. Walls and Mrs. Harriet Yeomans.

The Greenwood Club adjourned at its meeting last Friday night until the evening of January 5. Mr. Jesse Vineyard will read a paper on the Magna Charta at that meeting.

Members of the Prospect Avenue Magazine Club are making serious study of England this year. Beginning with the earliest times the outline brings the study down to the reign of Victoria. In connection with the history biographies of noted men and women are studied, the British constitution, its colonial policy and colonial possessions are all reviewed.

The Every Other Week Club will not meet again until January 3.

The 'Si Club will hold a meeting during the holidays, on Tuesday afternoon, De-cember 27. The programme will be carried out as follows:

out as follows:

Essay, "Spanish Sonquest of Peru," Mrs. J. A. L.
Waddell.

Topics, "Critical Sketch of Pirzaro," Mrs. 7, H.
Kennedy, "Espedition of Alvarade," Mrs. Mary B.
Morgan; Current Events, Mrs. James L. Lembard.

The Study Class of '92 will study Paris at the next meeting of the club, January 3, Mrs. Lillian Price will lead the tourists. On December 27 the Monday Club of Kan-sas City will meet to elect officers and transact business.

The Crescent Club and Irving Society of Joplin, Mo., gave a musical and literary entertainment at the high school building last Tuesday evening. The object of the entertainment was to raise funds to purchase pictures for the waits of the school-rooms. The idea is one which many promitent club women are advocating. Mrs. Stoutenborough, of Nebraska, is especially interested in the plan.

The Century Club of Joplin varies its study programme of topics on American history with vocal and instrumental music. A vocal solo by Miss Leard, a violin solo by Miss Margaret Dorman and a mandolin solo by Miss Pauline Dorman were the musical features of the last meeting.

The Joplin University Association meets twice a menth on Monday evening. The programme for one evening's work is very comprehensive, embracing such various topics as Peter the Great, Frederick the Great, Three Georges of England, William Pitt, Louis XV., causes of the French Revolution, Louis XVI., fine arts in the eighteenth century, religious movements, social customs, manners, and life, English authors, and achievments in arts and sciences in the eighteenth century. An original paper on an original theme by an original member of the center is announced, and excites great interest.

sacred history department. Mrs. Craycroft led the lesson at the last meeting. Greek games, government, homes, dress and entertainment were described by Mrs. Owen. Quotations were given by the members from their favorite authors.

The Emerson Club, of Joplin, is studying German history and English literature. Mrs. Troutman, Mrs. Kost, Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. Balsley, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Caro-line Plumb furnished last week's pro-gramme. gramme.

Wiehita, Kas., has a musical club which Wichita, Kas., has a musical club which gives an open meeting once a month on Monday afternoons. The December musicale was composed of numbers by Italian composers. Several selections were from Italian operas. Next month the recital will be directed by Miss Jessie Clark and Mrs. Harry McClung. French composers will be studied.

The city federation of Burlington is com-The city federation of Burlington is composed of four clubs and thirty individual members. The federation was formed last March. It is a sort of department club, and its divisions are along the following lines: Philanthropy, Education, Village Improvement and Home. There is a school visiting committee which visits the schools once a month. The co-operation of the board of education has been secured in the purchase of twelve casts. Lecturers have been brought to Burlington through the federation, and the club members are now soliciting for a lecture course.

The Coterie, of Pittsburg, Kas., began its second year last September. It is a reading and general enture club, Its members, being either busy homemakers or professional people, felt unable to undertake any heavy study, but have an interesting programme for every meeting. Last year, besides this regular programme, they each evening listened to several chapters of Quo Vadis, read by one of their number who is a fine elecutionist. f their number who is a fine elecutionist. The Mothers' Union meets at 2:20 in room A, Central school, on Monday, Children are especially invited to come and bring any toys, blocks, kindergarten material or books that they no longer use, as such things are needed to furnish a Christmas tree for children who have no Christmas at home. Mrs. Weeks will tell a story for the little ones, Mrs. W. B. Teasdale and Mrs. Elmer Williams will give talks on "How to Use the Natural Instincts and Abilities in Training the Instincts and Abilities in Training the Instincts and Moral Nature." Every one is invited. The union has now on hand for loan the following papers: "A Critical Period in a Girl's Physical Life," "Music in the House," "Good Housekeeping," "The Story of Reproduction for Children," "What Constitutes a Good Mother," "The Motal Value of Regular Habits," "Christmas Stories," They may be kept two weeks, but must be engaged well in advance by sending i cents postage to Mrs. E. Among the women's clubs of Clinton, Mo., none does more conscientious and comprehensive work than the German Leseverein Club, In ISS Mrs. Joseph Cohn organized the society, and she was made the first president. According to the constitution, officers are incligible for re-election, two years being the time limit of service. Each president makes her own code of rules during her reign.

On Thursday afternoon the lifteeen members gather at 2.20 o'clock. Coffee is served according to the German custom. The first hour is given up to German reading, and the second to English. Roll is called and answered by the members with current events told in German, or recite poems. The reading of the club has included all of Shakespeare's plays, Schiller's complete works, much of Goethe and Lessing, Just at present a study is being made of Schiller's "History of the Netherlands." Mrs. J. T. Ruffin is president. Other members of this energetic and cultured coterie are: Mrs. Joseph Cohn. Mrs. C. W. Collins, Mrs. Jacob Goldsmith, Mrs. W. E. Strong, Miss Jacobi, Mrs. B. Adler, Mrs. L. A. Keil, Mrs. Sam Kahn, Mrs. O. A. Peckstein, Mrs. S. E. Price and Mrs. S. Degen.

A new club has been added to the culture constitution of Clinton.

A new club has been added to the culture organizations of Clinton. On December 9 the Tourist Club was formed for the study of foreign countries. Not all of the officers have yet been elected, and the first regular meeting is yet to be held: but Mrs. S. E. Price. whom visitors to the Springfield convention all remember with kreat pleasure is the president. Last Monday night Mrs. C. E. Brede, Miss Julia McHeth and Miss Irene Lindley met as a committee to draft a constitution and bylaws and arrange a programme. The club will be limited to twenty members. Alternate Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock meetings will be held. Germany, Austria and Holland are the countries to be visited first. Miss Irene Lindley, a prominent young club woman of Clinton, has been a good deal of a traveler and the club will have the benefit of her personal experiences. The programme as arranged for the next two meetings is as follows:

BOIL CALL BERIN-LERNS of News, Club. "Rayal Family and Royal Palaces," Miss Mame Edmonton.

"Events and Pupular Reserts," Mrs. W. F. Crome, Conversation on Frederick the Great, led by Mrs. S. E. Price.

The Married Ladies' Coterie is another of Clinton's numerous clubs. It is limited to fifteen active members. Husbands of the ladies are honorary members, but equal suffrage has not yet been established—very properly they are not allowed to vote on questions of interest.

Charitable work is the serious aim of the club. To meet the financial demands this imposes a weekly fee of 10 cents is charged each member. Current events and quotations are the only literary exercises of the meeting. Refreshments are served, the ladles bring their fancy work and general sociability is induiged in.

Once a year an entertainment is given to which each lady invites four friends. A banquet is also given annually to the honorary members-the husbands. Mrs. Carl Brede is the club's president. The membership list also includes Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. H. A. Fabcock, Mrs. W. M. Ives, Mrs. Jack Barnett, Mrs. W. Jennings, Mrs. F. Waddeil, Mrs. J. M. Williams, Mrs. Will Dorman, Mrs. Williams Godwin, Mrs. W. Messick, Mrs. R. Bosserman and Mrs. Jesse Pickerell.

In a clever paper by Josephine Miles Woodward, a Kansas woman who has won laurels for herself as a newspaper correspondent, women's clubs are set forth from the reporter's point of view. One paragraph is especially terse in explaining the difference between men's clubs and women's clubs. Mrs. Woodward says: "Men's clubs were never intended to be serious, but have newer been taken seriously by women, while women's clubs are serious, but have never been taken seriously by women, while women's clubs are serious, but have never been taken seriously by men," Again, in speaking of the good accomplished by the clubs, she says: "But whether I have been able to discover that women are happier, honester or more content, better cooks or more agreeable companions, I will concede that I have watched the evolution of the timid, shrinking woman who has been snubbed first by her father and brothers, and later by her father and brothers, and later by her husband, and have rejoiced to see her speciation. And I have watched the involution of the woman accustomed to the flattery of an over-fond mother and foolies sisters and have rejoiced to see her get the dust rubbed off her wings-for it was artilicial dust, not the real black and gold and pink."

At the convention of the federation of Utah clubs Mrs. A. B. Greason, of the linquirers' Club. Salt Lake City, read a maner on the "Cultivation of a Club Conscience." The paper was of such excellence that the federation ordered copies sent to each club in the state. It would be interesting to know the manner in which an anomaly such as a club conscience.
